

"DAPPER BANDIT" IDENTIFIED AND COMPANION CONFESSES; WOMAN PRISONER IS DEFIANT

STEPHENS TO ASK ACTION TUESDAY BY GRAND JURORS

W. M. Beckley Corroborates Story Already Told by Roy McWhorter, Police Announce Sunday.

CONFESSION ENDS ALL-NIGHT GRILLING

Beckley in Tears as He Tells Story — McWhorter's Parents and Sweet-heart Visit Him.

The veil of mystery which has shrouded the widespread operations in Atlanta of the so-called "dapper bandits" was lifted Sunday when police announced that two of the three prisoners arrested Friday and Saturday, had made a full confession, and that the leader of the gang has been positively identified by one of his victims.

Confessions have been made, it was stated, by Roy McWhorter, 20, 525 Marietta street, the son of a preacher of the Holiness church, and W. M. Beckley, 26, formerly of Tampa, Fla.

Woman Is Defiant.

Miss Pauline Partain, 26, 366 Piedmont avenue, the third prisoner, who it is claimed, is the woman aide of the "dapper bandit" crew, was defiant when questioned by detectives. She told them that an agreement had been made by the trio to keep on operating until they were caught and then to keep their mouths shut, detectives quoted her as saying. She would not discuss the robberies and had nothing further to say about the case.

Assistant Solicitor General Ed A. Stephens went to police station Sunday and grilled the three prisoners for more than an hour. The two men proved willing to talk, it is said, but Miss Partain told the official that she had nothing to say and that he could do what he pleased about it.

Romanism Is Tarnished.

All the glitter of romance, which has surrounded operations of the bandits in Atlanta, was dulled and tarnished Sunday by police description of the demeanor of the prisoners.

McWhorter maintained a certain degree of self-possession, but he is declared to have "penched" on his pals and to have caused the arrest of his two alleged companions in hold-ups and daring escapes.

Beckley, police say, broke into tears as he confessed his part in the robberies. He told the officers that he met Pauline Partain in Florida, became madly infatuated with her, followed her to Atlanta, and that his life of banditry here was the result of this acquaintance. He said that he had four children in Tampa.

Sunday afternoon McWhorter was confronted by the manager of the Texas oil station on Lee street at McClellan's crossing.

McWhorter identified the room he took one look at the prisoner and then said: "Yes, you are the man who took my money."

"Yes sir, I got it," said McWhorter. "You didn't appear to be scared much but your companion certainly was frightened."

Beckley, according to McWhorter, was the chauffeur for the party, and for that reason had little active part in the robberies. Beckley, incidentally, is not quite sure that his partner has been giving him a square deal on a division of the loot obtained.

"If the newspaper accounts of the money obtained were correct, then I didn't get my fair share," he told officers.

Bodies of 27 Priests Moved From Macon To Mobile Monday

Macon, Ga., May 3.—Bodies of 27 priests who have been buried at St. Stanislaus college during the period since 1858, have been disinterred and tomorrow morning will be taken to Mobile, Ala., where they will be re-interred.

St. Stanislaus college was destroyed by fire in 1920. The property consisting of 42 acres near the heart of the city, is to be subdivided and sold in a development project.

Rev. Father T. D. Madden, pastor of St. Joseph's church here, will accompany the bodies to Mobile. There students and members of the faculty of Spring Hill college will meet the train and take part in the rites at the burial service in the college cemetery.

Prince of Wales Scores Hit As He Speaks African Tongue

Capetown, South Africa, May 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—The private dinner given the Prince of Wales in parliament building Saturday night not only was the occasion for a demonstration of enthusiastic loyalty, but it was hailed as an historic event owing to the prince's tact and diplomacy. Many nationalist members of parliament said today it had brought a new era to South Africa.

Not the least contribution to the events of the function was the fact that Wales delivered part of his speech in the native vernacular, which stirred the assembly to tremendous enthusiasm.

The speaker of the house, who presided at the dinner, declared the banquet would eliminate every trace of bitterness, that the two white races were united, and that the prince's visit had strengthened the spirit of cooperation and optimism.

General J. E. M. Hertzog, premier of the Union of South Africa, supporting the toast and addressing the prince, said: "You will be welcomed in the long plains of the Free State, on the high veldt of the Transvaal, and in solitary villages with the same warmth as here."

General Smuts, the former premier, said that the people loved the prince's simplicity, his human war, his sincerity, and they saw no side or swank about him, and the people of South Africa had a deep attachment to him and the throne.

They followed a notable display of loyalty. "God bless the Prince of Wales," was sung in both English and African, and the assemblage cheered for many minutes with shouts of "ons prins." It was perhaps the most wonderful tribute ever witnessed in the South African parliament.

As soon as silence was obtained, the prince began his speech. "I realize," he said, "that this warm welcome is recognition to me as the king's eldest son, as the heir to the throne, under which the members of the commonwealth are free to develop each on its own lines, but all to work together as one."

The climax came when the prince said: "Menor die swaak" and proceeded to speak in African to a tremendous outburst of cheers, which prevented the prince from continuing for some minutes. He most sincerely thanked the people of Africa for the hospitality accorded him and hoped that his visit would aid their mutual knowledge and cooperation.

HOLDUPS CONTINUE DESPITE DRAGNET FOR BANDIT CREW

Accommodating Negro Is Lured Into Car, Robbed and Then Thrown Out of Automobile.

ATTACK MANAGER OF GAS STATION

J. E. Cook Is Knocked Unconscious and Robbed of Purse Containing $210 Sunday Night.

Holdups and burglaries continued unabated Sunday despite the dragnet thrown out by the police Saturday night when two men and a woman were arrested in the search for the "dapper bandits."

Knocked unconscious by an unidentified bandit, who was nearly dressed, J. E. Cook, 23, of Red Oak, Ga., manager of the Woco-Pep filling station at 464 Highland avenue, Sunday night was robbed of his purse containing $210. When he came to his senses the robber was gone.

His assailant wore gray trousers and he had just visited a bootblack, according to his victim. Cook said that was all the description he could furnish, since he had been attacked unexpectedly. He did not know whether the man was white or black, and could not even tell what kind of a coat he was wearing.

No Trace of Robbers.

Cook immediately called police but no trace of the robber could be found. Call Officers Turner and Johnson investigated.

Cook was carried to Grady hospital by the officers and was found to be suffering from a severe laceration across the top of the head, in which five stitches were taken. Physicians stated that his condition is not serious and it is not believed that he has a fractured skull. He will be kept at the hospital under the care of physicians for a few days, however.

The manager was closing up the station for the night and was looking over a tank of oil when the robber entered and struck him.

Two unidentified white youths, both about 23 years of age, held up an accommodating negro early Sunday morning, who was directing them to Brookwood station, robbed him of $21 and a valuable gold watch, and then kicked him out of their speeding automobile.

According to the story told Patrolmen R. R. Davis and George G. Caldwell by the victim, John Hall, he was standing on the corner of North avenue and Peachtree street, when the two young bandits drove up in a light touring car and asked for direction to Brookwood station. He gave the requested information but, upon their promise to return him to North avenue and remunerate him for his trouble, he climbed into their car to show them the way.

ELECTRIC TRUST YOUTHS' TRIAL PROBE SOUGHT CALLED TODAY BY GOVERNMENT AT EATONTON Scandal Hinted in Connection Between J. P. Morgan Partner, Coolidge's Administration.

UNTERMYER WILL HANDLE INQUIRY

Extraordinary Radio Facilities Put at Disposal of Administration Without Cost Also Under Fire.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.

Washington, May 3.—Investigation of the connection between a partner of J. P. Morgan and company and the administration, and of the radio facilities placed at the disposal of the present administration by the General Electric company free of charge is to be sought under congressional means.

It will be initiated jointly by Samuel Untermyer, the New York lawyer, and the Peoples' Legislative Service, in which Senator La Follette is the guiding spirit.

Target Last Winter.

The General Electric company became a target of investigation when the senate last winter ordered the federal trade commission to investigate its interlocking directorates, which Senator Norris, of Nebraska, charged reached out into the electric light and power and traction companies in the most remote corners of the country. Norris charged that the concern and its subsidiaries controlled "every electric light bulb in the country."

Untermyer's appeal for a congressional investigation is based on evidence presented to the Lockwood commission in New York. Untermyer says this was laid before Attorney General Daugherty, who never brought a case on the criminal charges alleged, but instituted a civil suit after considerable delay. Untermyer said the findings of the commission proved that the company "is and has long been engaged in an unlawful combination and monopoly in restraint of trade in the manufacture of electric light bulbs."

Appeal Will Be Taken.

The civil suit brought by Daugherty recently was decided against the government in Cleveland, Ohio. Attorney General Sargent announced that an appeal would be taken to the supreme court.

Basil M. Manley, director of the Peoples' Legislative Service, said he would carry the investigation further than a presentation of the monopoly charge.

"I intend," he said, "to press my investigation further to determine what relation the overshadowing influence in the present administration, possessed by Dwight Morrow, of the firm of J. P. Morgan and company, and a director of the General Electric company, has had to the suppression of the so-called 'electric light trust.' Mr. Morrow has been one of the most frequent participants in the Mayflower voyages."

He also intends to inquire into the extraordinary radio facilities placed at the disposal of the present administration by the General Electric company without compensation.

INJUNCTION ASKED BY NON-UNION COAL MINE OPERATORS

Wheeling, W. Va., May 3.—Petition for a blanket injunction to cover 20 mines in the northern Panhandle region of West Virginia has been filed in the United States district court here by operators of non-union properties, asking protection against union activities by the United Mine Workers of America.

The petition was filed last week, but the action did not become known until today, Judge Baker said tonight he had caused notices of the petition to be issued to all officials of the United Mine Workers, returnable at the Parkersburg term of federal court, beginning May 25.

Mother Identifies Boy, 14, Who Lost Life in Swimming

Paul Bodeker Meets Death in Creek at Wallace Mill, Near Decatur, Sunday Afternoon.

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK As Seen By-- Pierre Van Paassen

New York, May 3.—I suddenly became aware of him when he nudged my side and asked me for the loan of a pencil. It was in the subway and I had just taken my seat. The man had a raven-black beard, wore a long black coat and felt hat. The most striking features of his personality were the deep burning glistening black eyes and the beautiful strong hands. I dug up a pencil stub and handed it to him. He wrote on the back of a book cover. Hebrew words. I ask him what he wrote.

From his broken English I gathered that it was a mere flash of thought he wished to record, but he seemed sufficiently to tell me that he was writing a commentary on the Greek translation of the Old Testament. He had been occupied with it for eighteen years. Ten years in Russia, eight years in America. Probably a book that will last an eternity. I am to come and visit him and inspect the fine yellow pages and black print of ancient Hebrew manuscripts. I can hardly wait.

We have all heard of the old Chinese custom of burying a lot of dolls and models in the grave of a mighty lord so that he will have company in the celestial mansions after death, but something happened here the other day that is so suggestive of the primitive times of the human race that it needs preservation. Madame Kitty Berge, well-known harpist in her day, died. Her last words concerned her four cats, and in her will there was a pitiful plea to kill the cats mercifully immediately after her own death, so that they could go to heaven with her.

Of all the spots in the wide world for an abundance of spooning couples, Riverside Drive park takes the cake. Fully 80 per cent of the Adonises are sailors, too. Hardly does the sun begin its journey beyond the western horizon when the Jacksars swarm aboard the small sloops from their training ships in the Hudson river and pull for the shore where their girls are waiting with unconcealed eagerness. I have often wondered what makes a sailor beat the soldier in popularity with the fair sex. Can it be that they're actually the ladies' pride and joy on account of their bright and breezy ways, as the old song has it?

An official guiding me around Ellis Island, that place of pathos, tragedy, happiness and comedy within the shadow of the statue of liberty, explained while we were looking at a scene in one of the bathhouses, that they often had trouble with certain immigrants in making them take to the tub. Two attendants were busy at the moment inducing a middle-aged eastern European to step right in. T: fellow grinned sheepishly, but did not seem to relish the adventure.

"Oh, we have our hands full here at times," said one of the bathhouse attendants. "The class of immigrants we get now is better than the old type." And then he told me without blinking an eyelash that once he had scrubbed an old fellow's back right after he stepped from the boat. "I thought I had all clean after half an hour's scrubbing, but you can imagine my surprise when I realized that below the layers of dirt there was another sort of clothes."

I am always struck by the bored expressions on the faces of people in the so-called gay cabarets and night emporiums. Life seems nothing but a burden to them. The gayest of the places does not come from within joyously-beating hearts in most cases. It is imparted from the outside. Artificial stimulants are necessary to create an atmosphere of vivacity. The crashing orchestra, the foaming and sparkling drink, the silly jokes and "nifties" of hired entertainers must buoy up the downcast guests. Little reality in such places, a great deal of make-believe and make-up, too. (Copyright, 1925, Thompson Feature Service.)

Two YOUTHS HELD FOR ROUGHHOUSING AT BILTMORE HOTEL

New York, May 3.—Joshua Couden, 19-year-old son of Jona S. Couden, who made millions in Oklahoma oil and who entertained the Prince of Wales on Long Island last year, spent Sunday in the Tombs as a result of a party in his rooms at the Biltmore hotel Saturday night.

Young Couden and Thomas McCleary, a friend, who gave his age as 17, were arraigned before a magistrate charged with intoxication and disorderly conduct after police broke up a noisy entertainment early Sunday morning. Because of alleged imprudence to the court, both boys were held in $500 bail and sent to the Tombs.

The elder Couden bailed them out late in the afternoon. The lively affair came to a climax at 6:20 o'clock in the morning, according to the hotel management, and police were called.

BODY IS RECOVERED BY "BABY" STRIBLING

Boy Went to Church Sunday and Disappeared Shortly After Noon. Inquest Planned Today.

The body of Paul Bodeker, 14, 87 North Moreland avenue, was found about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the creek at Wallace Mill, near Decatur, by "Baby" Stribling, brother of the well-known pugilist, and two companions. The body was identified by Mrs. Bodeker, mother of the victim, several hours later.

According to Stribling, he and two friends, Norwood Harrell and Robert Beuchler, had gone to the creek for a swim. They found a bicycle on the bank with a boy's clothes hung on it and called several times for him.

Call for Sheriff.

Getting no response the boys called immediately for Sheriff McCurdy, of DeKalb county, who rushed to the scene. Following his arrival Stribling took off his clothes and plunged into the water, where, after a brief search he brought the body to the surface and dragged it ashore.

There was nothing to identify the drowned youth except a skull cap worn by students at the V. A. Bass Junior High school. The body was removed to Turner's undertaking establishment in Decatur.

Had Gone to Church.

Paul Bodeker, who lived with his mother at 87 North Moreland avenue, was a student at the Moreland Avenue school. He went to church Sunday morning, it is said, had dinner, and shortly after noon disappeared. His mother became uneasy when he failed to return at night, and began an investigation.

Discovery of his identity came through the fact that he had left his bicycle with his mother by the side of the creek. The dealer's tag was still on the machine, and authorities got in touch with him, and then located the owner, Mrs. Bodeker, who was notified by the A. S. Turner company.

The coroner will hold an inquest this morning, and there were no witnesses to the drowning. The body was still warm when dragged to the surface by "Baby" Stribling.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE URGES TOLERANCE

an army, they were ready to serve wherever they could be most useful," he continued. "There is a romance in the story of Harney Solomon, Polish Jew financier of the revolution. He negotiated for Robert Morri... the loans raised in France and Holland, pledged his personal faith and fortune for enormous amounts, and personally advanced large sums to such men as James Madison, Thomas Jefferson, Baron Steuben, General Sir John Mordaunt, and other patriot leaders who testified that without his aid they could not have carried on in the cause."

"A considerable number of Jews became officers in the continental forces. Jews Who Served in Army. The records show at least four Jews who served as lieutenant colonels, three as majors and certainly six, probably more, as captains. Major Benjamin Nones has been referred to as the Jewish Lafayette. He came from France in 1777, enlisted in the continentals as a volunteer private, served on the staffs of both Washington and Lafayette, and later was attached to the command of Baron de Kalb, in which were a number of Jews. When De Kalb was fatally wounded in the thickest of the fighting at the battle of Camden, the three officers who were at hand to bear him from the field were Major Nones, Captain De La Motta, and Captain Jacob de Leon, all of them Jews. It is interesting to know that at the time of the revolution there was a larger Jewish element in the southern colonies than would have been found there at most later periods, and these Jews of the Carolinas and Georgia were ardent supporters of the revolution. One corps of infantry raised in Charleston, S. C., was composed preponderantly of Jews, and they gave a splendid account of themselves in the fighting in that section."

"To go forward on the same broadening lines that have marked the national development, thus far, it is our aim. The community or the civilization that ceases to progress, begins that hour to recede."

AVONDALE OFFICES WILL OPEN TONIGHT

The new downtown sales rooms of Avondale Estates at 173-175 Peachtree street, at the corner of Ellis, will be formally opened to the public at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Music will be furnished by Warner's Seven Aces, as a continuous feature of entertainment through the evening for the great throng of guests expected to view the commodious and elaborate offices.

Every art of the decorator and the furnisher has been called into play at the new salesrooms and the result has been the production of an effect that has won high praise from all pre-opening visitors.

The central feature will be a great topographical map, which will reproduce in miniature the entire new suburb, showing the great development of property at this place.

More than 3,000 Atlantans visited Avondale Sunday, inspected the buildings and admired the many unusual features offered. Sales at the development are now being made at a rate exceeding $3,000,000 a year, it was announced at the sales offices.

A special invitation has been extended to all members of the Atlanta real estate board and the general public is invited to be present.

SCOUT CONVENTION CLOSES AT MACON

Macon, Ga., May 3.—The first Girl Scout convention ever held ended here today with a trip to Camp Martha Jackson. Girls came from all parts of Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina to attend the meeting.

With the business of the convention behind them and their many plans brought to successful fruition, the local Girl Scouts cast aside as they romped over their new camp, showing its beauties to their visitors.

Nature has provided a setting of pine groves, sloping hillsides, sturdy rocks, a level plateau and a frolicking stream that extends a mile within the bounds of the camp. All of these were explored.

During the morning, Girl Scouts attended special church services.

of their names in The Constitution of that morning. Those who show the possession of marked musical talent will also be listed in The Constitution the following day, though the actual report in detail will be made to the parents or guardians of the children in private. Those who do not display marked natural talent will be so in private, so that there will be no humiliation for anyone.

A musical training is totally unnecessary for an applicant to these clinics, in as much as it is the natural talent and not acquired ability that is to be tested. A child who has never taken a music lesson may show the greatest natural talent of all, while one who has studied for years may disclose no natural gifts of a musical nature.

"Seashore" Methods. The tests are to be made by the "Seashore" method, introduced by Dr. Carl E. Seashore, perhaps the most eminent experimental psychologist in the country. They are given through phonograph records and test the individual sense of pitch, intensity, consonance (harmony) memory, time and rhythm.

George F. Lindner, director of the Atlanta Conservatory of Music, has offered two free scholarships, one in violin and one in voice, for the two children who start the greatest natural talent of all those tested. These scholarships are for the balance of the current term and will serve to illustrate the correctness of the test in the musical careers.

Professor Peacock, one of the experts who will conduct these clinics, in describing the "Seashore" tests and their basis on Sunday, said that the tests were for musical talent, which is inborn, hereditary and not for the result of practice, education and learning.

Meaning of Talent. "Talent means trait, capacity, original endowment," said Professor Peacock. "It is transmitted from generation to generation. Some children are tone deaf. Some people are color blind. No woman is color blind, or can be; but her sons may inherit color blindness from her and transmit it to their children. Her daughters, though never color blind, may transmit the trait to their sons. This is the law of inheritance of traits."

"To tone-deaf children the power of pitch discrimination is lost. Many tones sound alike to them. You may teach them to sing, but you may never teach them to play—make canned music, like a piano. They may become expert performers, may acquire technique, may read music as well as must have the music before them. They have execution only. They can never make musicians."

"To color-blind people green and red appear as gray. They can never learn color discrimination."

The Seashore tests originated in the University of Iowa, where the author is professor of psychology. They are used as standard tests of musical talent in all other universities. They have been reduced to Grafonola records, and they are played on the ordinary music player.

The Seashore records are six in number, measuring six elements or factors of the musical mind, namely:

WRIGHT IS SPEAKER AT BERRY CLOSING

Rome, Ga., May 3.—(Special.)—The second day of closing exercises at Berry schools was featured by the baccalaureate address today at 11 o'clock, by Judge Moses Wright, of Rome.

In addition to the hundreds of students, Judge Wright was heard by a large number of the Berry alumni, who are here for the commencement and by many Rome people also. Special music by the student body was an impressive feature of the services.

Judge Wright Speaks.

Judge Wright spoke from the 13th chapter of Second Corinthians and made a plea to put soul-life above everything else. He said in part: "The little original cabin there in the woods, like Lincoln's, will go down in history, because it is the birthplace of dreams realized, love and faith triumphant. The spirit, heart and glory of old Berry originated there. Miss Berry, looking through the glasses of her soul, saw far into the distance, 20 odd years ago. All great things in this world have been accomplished because of men and women who have labored unceasingly for this old world, that it might be better, purer, happier."

"You are Miss Berry's children and she is giving you to the world. The heart of your founder, teachers and trustees goes out with you today into the wide, wide world and will follow you wherever you go. We are trusting that your feet will find the pathway of happiness and that all your achievements may be crowned with love."

"Always keep in mind that the things which are God's are more important than the things of Caesar, kaiser or kings. Higher and nobler things come down from above—the things of the human heart. These are the things which count. The only true wealth is the wealth of the heart and the only true legacy is the legacy of the soul. I had rather live in a mountain cabin in sound of the rushing rivulet; I had rather walk the simple mountain paths that lead the way to humble homes; I had rather be out with nature, loving God and humanity, than be a slave to the wealth of Croesus and dwell in the palaces of kings. In this day of scientific discoveries more important is the life of the soul than ever before."

Alumni Banquet.

The alumni banquet was held last night in the new dining hall at the Foundation school. There was a record-breaking attendance, graduates being present from all parts of the south. Marshall Lewis, '21, acted as toastmaster. Other alumni speakers were H. G. Hamrick, '12; M. G. Keown, '05; Percy Pentecost, '11; Annie Sellers, '15; Ben Cantrell, '20; Inez Wooten, '21; Walter Weaver, '07; Floyd Cantrell, '21; Eva Mae Green, '22; Walter Johnson, '12; Gladys Copeland, '19, and Haskell Stratton, '21. Loyalty to Berry was the keynote of all the speeches.

In a heart-grinding address, Miss Berry said: "Love is the greatest thing in the world. Berry's greatest endowment is the character and success of her graduates."

The class of 1924 won the loyalty loving cup for having the largest percentage of its graduates back for commencement.

The officers of the Alumni association for the ensuing year were elected, as follows: W. A. Johnson, president; Fair C. Moon, first vice president; Rube Carbow, second vice president, and H. G. Hamrick, secretary and treasurer.

Senior Class Day.

The seniors will hold their class day exercises Monday at 2 o'clock. Monday night a play will be given, illustrating the industrial work of the school. The play was written by the students of the school and will furnish most interesting and unique entertainment.

The final commencement exercises come Tuesday at 1 o'clock in the Mount Berry chapel. Diplomas and certificates will be given to about 90 young men and women.

Dr. John H. Finley, associate editor of The New York Times, will deliver the commencement address. The most successful year in the history of the school has just come to a close.

Tongue grey? Your intestines need attention

NATURE has a way of informing us when all is not well within. The sign that something is out of order in the intestinal tract is a coated tongue.

Don't wait until you begin to feel ill. When your tongue shows grey in the mirror, take Pluto Water at once.

Gently but insistently, this safe water physic releases and removes the disturbing accumulations that are causing the trouble. It acts in thirty minutes to two hours, while overnight cathartics, when they work at all, often serve only to make matters worse. And a big advantage of Pluto Water is that it does not gripe after use.

Keep Pluto Water on hand at all times. Physicians prescribe it, druggists sell it and it is bottled at French Lick Springs, Indiana.

NEGRO MINISTERS URGE ATTENDANCE ON BIG CONCERT

Leading colored ministers Sunday urged their congregations to attend the third annual musical concert at the city auditorium-armory Sunday, May 17, which will be sponsored by the Holmes Institute.

Twenty-seven colored church choirs are being trained by expert musicians for the singing contest, which will consist of plantation melodies and spirituals. Students of the Holmes Institute will render special numbers.

Rev. B. R. Holmes, president, in delivering addresses at St. Phillip's, Turner Monumental and Brant Chapel A. M. E. churches Sunday in the interest of the concert, said the singing contest will be a great treat for music-lovers. White citizens are invited to attend the concert, special seats having been reserved.

MEASLES DEADLIER THAN MURDERERS IN GREAT BRITAIN

London, May 3.—Measles are deadlier than murderers in Great Britain. The reason is that almost anyone can lug a measles germ around in his pocket, while totting a gun is dangerous business.

One hundred and thirty-eight persons out of each 1,000,000 in Britain die of measles annually while murderers reduce each million by six. Criminals are compelled to slay an account for five out of each six murders, according to the statistics, and only one person in 1,000,000 succumbs to deliberate murder.

The British female is more deadly than the male. Eighty-three men were convicted of murder in 1923, and 87 women. Thirteen men and one woman were hanged. Most of the women convicted had killed illegitimate children. Such persons usually are quietly released from prison after a year or two.

What do we mean by "Giant" Roof Permanence?

SIMPLY THIS: Permanent freedom from leaks and repair expense with a roof of Barrett Giant Shingles. Specially designed for reroofing, they're nailed right over the old roof.

These Giants are extra thick and extra large, (12 by 14 inches). They're rot-proof and rust-proof—never need painting or staining. Colorful and fire-safe—they're surfaced with slate in soft red, moss-green and blue-black.

The nearest Barrett Dealer will show you these Giant reroofing shingles. No matter what your roof problem is, there's a Barrett Roofing to meet it.

organization, now recognized as the greatest and largest of its kind in the world.

Organized in California, these flyers were organized in San Francisco in 1911 and a primitive airplane of scant horsepower comprised the entire equipment. Now they have many swift, powerful, modern airplanes, equipped with engines ranging from 180 to 230 horsepower each.

The famous Didier Masson, pioneer French flyer, was brought to America under auspices of Ivan Gates in 1911. The first circus was staged at the Presidio in San Francisco in March, 1911, with one tiny and small-powered biplane, engineered by Jules Brule, mechanic brought from the Societe des Gnome Aviation company, of Paris, France.

This little company toured the United States and gave hundreds of thousands of persons their first view of an airplane.

Many circuses staged. During the years that followed, Mr. Gates staged scores of exhibitions and the organization grew, at various times including such men as Lincoln Beachey, Art Smith, Fred Hoover, Nels J. Nelson, Weldon B. Cook, Roy Francis, Clyde E. Pangborn and others.

Ten years after organizing the present company, of which Mr. Pangborn is associate owner, Mr. Gates brought his flying circus back to its first home in triumph. Within a stone's throw of the scene of the first flight, the flyers gave what is reputed to have been the greatest flying circus ever staged, with approximately 100,000 persons attending.

In the primitive "Pusher" airplanes, the engines were placed in back of the pilots. It did not require much of a bump to dislodge the heavy motor and send it smashing down on the back of the pilot. The simple change of the position of the motor was one of the first important improvements in construction.

Perfect Safety Devices. Since then expert technicians have spent years in perfecting safety devices, designed to eliminate accidents. The record of the coast to coast airplane mail service in carrying mail with few delays and only one accident during the fiscal year, is said to have been much better than the records of the railroads in the same period.

The manner in which flying is regarded by many of the greatest men of the nation also is shown by the recent flight of Judge Landis, supreme arbiter of baseball, who toured the south speaking in the interests of the American Legion endowment fund. Not an accident or delay marred the trip, and Judge Landis is quoted as having said that the airplane permitted him to make the journey in about one-third of the time it ordinarily would have required.

Every person in Atlanta and the surrounding territory interested in aviation, and particularly in the expert and daring stunts and tricks of the Flying Circus in Decatur. Before and after the exhibitions, and in the mornings, passengers will be carried at nominal rates.

crime, and to say that Scarborough did not tell the truth in implicating them in his alleged confession.

Added interest in the case here is created by the fact that George Remus, federal prisoner and reputed millionaire bootlegger, king of Cincinnati, has been summoned to appear as a witness in the case. It is claimed by William Schley Howard, attorney for McClellan and Coggeshall, that Scarborough in conversation with Remus while both were confined in the Athens jail, told him (Remus) that immunity had been promised if he would "peach" on the men arrested with him.

Immunity Offer Denied. Detective Seagraves, at Athens, one of the officers in charge of Scarborough at Athens, denies that immunity was promised Scarborough. Sheriff Walton, of Putnam county, also has issued a denial of any promise to Scarborough.

The case, on account of the brutality of the killing, and the popularity of Professor Wright, who was one of the best known educators in the state, has created great interest throughout this county and section.

never seen Bell before and did not know that he had sought refuge in their home.

Three Are Arrested. Bell, Cunningham and Miss Ford will be held at police station pending the outcome of Bradley's injuries and a thorough investigation into the affair, detectives stated. They refused to state whether or not they had found the man or woman who clubbed the injured youth.

Bradley's entire forehead, from the bridge of his nose upward, is crushed in. Attending surgeons removed two parts of the shattered skull bone Sunday night in an effort to save his life, but they state there is little hope.

The injured man is said to be the son of Mrs. E. Bradley, of 14 Rainey street, Gainesville.

Cunningham told police he was an innocent bystander. "I was standing on the sidewalk, in front of the apartment building," he said. "The first thing I knew of the trouble was when a number of men and women swarmed from the building, fighting, cursing and screaming. I was surrounded and someone ripped my coat open with a knife. I was then struck in the back of the head with a club and lost consciousness."

TALLAPOOSA BOY INJURED IN WRECK

Tallapoosa, Ga., May 3.—(Special.) Richard Carroll was probably fatally injured, Marion Holcomb was less seriously hurt, and two other boys sustained slight injuries when a touring car in which they were riding overturned at a crossing in the eastern part of the city late Sunday afternoon.

Physicians who were called to attend Carroll expressed little hope for his recovery. Reports are to the effect that the car, owned by Holcomb, was being driven by Homer Patterson at a rapid rate, when it struck the railroad tracks, causing it to overturn. The car was totally wrecked.

General Farming Situation Most Cheerful in 5 Years, 1,512 Field Observers Say

With 100 as Basis, Index of Farm Conditions Was 83.6 on May 1, According to Exhaustive Report.

Chicago, May 3.—The general agricultural situation in the United States is the most cheerful in five years, according to the new Sears-Roebuck agricultural foundation index, just issued after an exhaustive analysis of reports from 1,512 field observers throughout the nation.

These 1,512 observers, taking 100 as normal, considered crop conditions, prices received for agricultural products, prices paid for commodities the farmer buys, price prospects and the general outlook for agriculture. On this basis, they found that the May 1 index of farm conditions is 83.6. The observers' reports indicate that the American farmer is slowly, but surely getting back to normalcy.

Farm Work Ahead.
Farm work is from ten days to two weeks ahead of normal, the index reports. A dry April over most of the country gave the farmers an opportunity to prepare the land and get their planting well under way, so that 76.3 per cent of the spring planting and plowing was completed on May 1. The prevailing higher prices of wheat, hogs, dairy and poultry products is reflected in the general tendency to increase crop acreage.

A widespread deficiency of moisture is reported, however, which subnormal rains must make good unless crops are to suffer. In the far southwest, an eight months' drought has already done severe damage, but the necessary rains are now coming.

Corn Acreage Gains.
Corn acreage shows a gain of 100,000 acres for this crop, but the poor quality of the seed corn will cut down the yield per acre in many states. A bumper crop in oats is in sight, and indications are that both rye and barley will equal last year's production, according to reports in the index. A considerable decrease in the 1925 potato acreage is planned and to be planted is attributed to low prices, but the early potatoes have a relatively good condition. An intended increase of 6.2 per cent in the cotton acreage, as well as the excellent growing weather, except in the southwestern states, forecasts an average yield.

New Religious Views Defined By Professor

Chicago, May 3.—Seeking a method by which religious views of life and conduct "may be freely fashioned and reformed in keeping with new experience and enlarging faith," Professor Edward Scribner Ames has sought to define religion in new terms.

In a revised edition of "The New Orthodoxy," published by the University of Chicago press, many interesting definitions are given.

Religion is the turning of the soul to God.
Religion is loving one's neighbor as one's self.
Religion is taking the world as a fairy land of beauty and love within sight of garbage dumps and list fights.

Religion is a song and a prayer on a corner where street-car lines intersect and the cries of the newsboys mingle with the roar of the elevator.

Religion is a breath of daring silence in the din of angry clatter and profanity.
Religion is composure of soul when the ocean liner sinks.
Religion is the mirth of kindred spirits round a glowing fire with the shadows playing over a vacant chair.

YAM PLANT GROWERS HOLD MEET AT BAXLEY

Baxley, Ga., May 3.—(Special.)—Yam plant growers to the number of several hundred met here yesterday to discuss methods of standardization and cooperation in handling the county's tremendous output of sweet potato plants. J. J. Brown, commissioner of agriculture, made an effective address in which he outlined the benefits of cooperation in marketing and the improvement in market conditions to come from standardization.

4 GERMAN OFFICERS IN U. S. TO INSPECT AERIAL ACTIVITIES

Washington, May 3.—Four officers of the post-war German army, who were formerly flying officers in the German air service, are in Washington preparing to make a general inspection of military and civilian aerial activities in this country.

The visit was arranged with the approval of the war department, but it was emphasized both at the department and at the German embassy that the party was a commercial and not a military commission.

$70,000,000 Bond Issue Would Connect Every County Seat in State

Editor, Constitution: To those of us who have been working so intensely for paved roads in Georgia for the past 11 years, among whom is the Georgia Highway Association, and so far every one of them has been in the point of view, it is a very gratifying thing to read your superb editorials, and to deal to not only arouse the people to the importance of road construction but to take action on it in the legislature.

I am enclosing you a copy of the proposed bond bill that has been drafted and prepared to fully meet the situation in the state. You will note it is proposed to sell $70,000,000 of bonds in seven years, bearing a rate of 4 1/2 per cent interest, not over a period of 30 years. The best of authorities have been consulted and all of them assure the Georgia Highway Association that the issue can be floated with the revenue derived from the amount of gas tax in 1924, and this revenue is annually increasing. A careful reading of the bill shows that the entire issue will be paid in seven years with the above amount including the $1,000,000 of federal funds to be received in the seven year period, making a total of $84,000,000.

Eighteen hundred miles of the state system, which plan has been worked out by the highway commission, will be of a heavy base and surface to withstand the heaviest load. The bill provides for the construction of the highway system when the demand for such comes as it does from the automobile industry. The first class road means thoroughfare from Chattanooga to Atlanta, by both Rome and Dalton, thence on to Macon, and from Macon to Savannah, and from Savannah to Jacksonville, and from Jacksonville to Miami.

So you see that the proposed bond bill will not only build the above trunk line but will build fine roads from every county seat to each other with the present revenue from the gas tax and not levy any new tax on anybody or county. This seems to me to be the solution of our problem.

Would Place Only Normal Tax on Forest-Growing Land

Editor, Constitution: For years an effort has been made to get the legislature to create a whole lot of new political jobs by passing so-called "forestry" legislation. The people of this country have a considerable amount of money invested in timber and in concerns that manufacture lumber and other forest products, and are naturally, vitally interested in reforestation.

Now, our people are being urged to permit their young timber to be murdered, by using it before it has advanced beyond the sapling stage, in order to get enough money with which to pay the heavy taxes imposed by the state and the counties upon lands upon which nature is doing its best to produce a decent crop of timber.

An amendment to the constitution of Georgia, with the necessary legislation, placing a normal tax of a few cents per acre upon lands upon which timber is being raised, would enable our people to permit nature to reforest this whole section within a very few years.

If we can afford to exempt new industrial tracts from taxes for a period of years, we can afford to reduce the taxes upon lands upon which timber is being grown to a flat rate which our people could afford to pay, until the timber is big enough to use without committing the state to a huge debt of political appointees to make such a law operative and no revenue would be lost to the state if a small manufacturers' tax was assessed against the manufacturers' products made from the timber produced on lands which had enjoyed the benefits of a low tax rate during the time that such timber had been growing.

I would, of course, oppose the imposition of a manufacturers' tax, but I would like to see a manufacturers' tax which would be double taxation equal almost to confiscation.

First Peaches Go to Market About May 10

Macon, Ga., May 3.—(Special.)—The first car of Georgia peaches will be shipped about May 10, according to W. C. Bewley, general manager of the Georgia Peach Growers' exchange.

The movement of peaches for the coming season as compared with the first shipment last season is about two weeks in advance, and according to present indications the movement will be fully 2,000 cars under last season's shipment.

In discussing the movement of peaches, Mr. Bewley states that the Mayflower variety would be ripe enough for shipment about May 8 and that the first car would leave for market about May 10. He also stated that all varieties of peaches were from 10 days to two weeks earlier this season.

Mr. Bewley further states that although the crop would be lighter by 2,000 cars this season, it should be more of a financial success, because growers are going to pay more attention to proper grading and packing.

Surviving are his widow, one son, Dr. A. R. Scott, of East Gulf, Va.; two brothers, W. A. Scott and W. L. Scott, Decatur; three sisters, Mrs. John L. Manning, of Marietta, Mrs. D. C. Camp, Atlanta, and Mrs. G. H. Hull, Conyers.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

BALLOON RACER LANDS AT REFORM, ALABAMA

St. Joseph, Mo., May 3.—The Good-year III, contestant in the national elimination balloon race, piloted by W. T. Van Orman, landed at Reform, Alabama.

Van Orman in reporting to the Associated Press estimated that he covered a distance of 530 miles. He did not state the time of the landing. His message was filed from Reform at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

MASONIC HOME CLUB WILL MEET TONIGHT

The regular monthly meeting of the Masonic Home club will be held in the banquet hall of W. D. Luckie lodge, Gordon and Lee streets, at 8 o'clock tonight. This is the first regular monthly meeting held since the organization and a large attendance of Masons and members of the Order of the Eastern Star is expected.

The club, made up of representatives of the Masonic lodges and Eastern Star chapters of the fifth district, has for its object the welfare of the Masonic Orphans Home at Macon, Ga. Membership is confined to Masons, families of Masons and members of the Eastern Star. W. H. Pool is president, T. J. Weaver, vice president, Pearce Power, secretary, and W. S. Richardson, treasurer.

Tei, the national beverage of southern Abyssinia, is distilled from wild honey and is similar to the mead of the ancient Saxons.

U. S. TO DOMINATE ARMS SALE MEET

Geneva, May 3.—The league of nations conference to seek control of the international traffic in weapons of war will convene Monday with the United States occupying the dominant position among the thirty-odd nations represented. Besides endeavoring to produce a new convention for the control of traffic in arms and munitions, American delegates will endeavor to control the private manufacture of war materials is possible through international agreement.

Restricting Traffic.
Progress toward either objective depends upon the United States, now one of the world's largest producers and exporters of war material. The other nations represented around the conference table Monday probably will go as far as the United States cares to go toward restricting the traffic, but they certainly will not go further.

If they go beyond the limit desired by the United States then they would be bound while the United States could withdraw and go her own way to a virtual monopoly in the production of war materials. The annual traffic in such materials now is approximately $50,000,000 with England, France, Germany and Japan and the United States most concerned in it. Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, leads the American delegation to the conference and it is predicted that he will sell in waters as stormy as those that washed about Stephen G. Porter when the latter headed the American delegation to the league anti-narcotic conference last fall and early this year. The anti-narcotic conference finally became so turbulent that Porter withdrew.

Involves U. S. Policy.
The convention to be drawn by the conference convening Monday will be of vital importance to the United States for it will involve the whole American policy of supplying arms to Latin American republics and to revolutionary governments. A draft convention has been prepared, and as it now stands, it would be sold only to regularly constituted governments officially recognized by the government selling the war material. In case of war, belligerents would have to buy from the United States. The American government before they could purchase munitions in the United States.

CHURCH IS BURNED WHICH WAS SEAT OF KLAN TROUBLE

New Orleans, La.—The Atkins Baptist church of Cedar Grove, which figured in the trial of W. Conrad Oliver in connection with the flogging of John Barker here last week, was burned down early this morning and investigation shows the blaze was of incendiary origin, according to reports. The church, the congregation of which has been divided into factions over the issues involved in the conviction of Miller on a charge of conspiracy to commit assault, said to have been inflicted because Barker allowed his daughter, Jewell, to ride a bicycle and wear knickers, was mentioned in testimony as having been the seat of much of the trouble leading up to the Barker flogging.

PROHIBITION LAWS ARE TIGHTENED UP BY TEN STATES

Washington, May 3.—Prohibition laws were materially tightened up by the legislatures of 10 states during the winter just passed, according to a compilation by the anti-saloon league here. Forty legislatures were in session and in none were laws passed weakening the prohibition enforcement code. General Counsel Wayne B. Wheeler said, Nevada adopted a resolution asking congress to call a national constitutional convention to change the eighteenth amendment, but Wheeler said this will be about as much chance "as a crippled grasshopper in a pen of hungry turkeys."

Inspection Plus!
The legend, "U. S. Inspected and Passed," includes our packing-house and all of its many departments, as well as our products. A U. S. Government inspected packing-house, first of all, must comply with Government standards of cleanliness, sanitation, ventilation, etc., etc. All of these features must coordinate with animal inspection and approval.

Our plant must be as cleanly as our products are pure. Thus it is the public is given a protection by the Government in the production of all of our fresh and smoked meats, day in and day out. No relaxation of these principles of protection: a law of the plant that must be lived up to. You are cordially invited to inspect our plant at any time, and learn for yourself the real significance of this protection.

Indiana Furniture Dealers To Face U. S. Grand Jury

Chicago, May 3.—Summons to appear before the federal grand jury have been issued to practically all furniture manufacturers in Evansville, Ind., and the surrounding territory.

This is the first step in the broad investigation of the furniture industry by the government to determine whether or not there has been a nation-wide conspiracy to maintain high prices.

The investigation is being conducted by Roger Shale and William Denham, special attorneys general of the United States.

The charge that furniture prices have never dropped from their wartime peak is understood to be responsible for the investigation.

Georgia Income Tax Payments Show Decrease

Washington, May 3.—(Special.)—Georgia's contribution to the federal government in income taxes for the first nine months of the fiscal year which ends June 30, this year, dropped $2,096,708.75 from the collections for the first nine months of the last fiscal year, ending June 30, 1924, a treasury estimate shows.

Total collections for the nine-month period this fiscal year were $11,888,458.89, compared with $13,985,167.64 last year.

This reduction shows the extent of cuts made under the new law, under which but one collection has been made. The decrease is due partly, too, to reductions made in some of the miscellaneous taxes.

Both income taxes and miscellaneous taxes are included in the totals shown, and decreases are shown in both. Income taxes totaled $10,151,314.51 for the nine-month period last year, and $9,739,284.19 for this year. Miscellaneous taxes dropped from $3,833,853.13 last year to $2,149,172.70 this year.

Quake Is Recorded.

New York, May 3.—The seismograph at Fordham University recorded severe earth tremors for a period of almost two hours this afternoon. It was estimated that the quake occurred in the southern Pacific about 7,000 miles from here.

AMERICA MUST LEAD PEACE MOVE SAYS 'GLOOMY DEAN'

New York, May 3.—The Very Rev. W. R. Inge, the "gloomy dean" of St. Paul's cathedral, London, said in a sermon this afternoon at the Episcopal cathedral of St. John the Divine, that it is hopeless to expect much from England in solving the world's problems.

England is looking to the United States to show the way, he said, and if America will not approve the league of nations, it should give the world something in the league's place.

"Pleading against a policy of 'self-isolation,'" he assailed the United States as a "nation of destiny and endowed with privileges and responsibilities to spur it on, not only for the salvation of its own people but for all civilization."

Commenting on the responsibilities of America, Dean Inge said New York might understand Europe but the west and middle west look upon it as another world. Those sections, he thought, would be inclined "to let us stew in our own juice."

More Fun In California This Summer Than Ever Before

—It's California's Festival Year, celebrating the 75th anniversary of the Golden State's admission to the Union. Fetes, fiestas, rodeos, pageants, the glamour and color of the old Spanish days, assure you of gala days and nights. Don't miss them.

PLAN now for your Southern California trip. Awaiting you: mile-high mountains, lovely valleys, dozens of broad ocean beaches, gorgeous canyons, an unending variety of scenic wonders that thrill and satisfy. All your favorite sports, at their best. Five thousand miles of splendid motor roads and 1100 miles of trolley line take you easily anywhere you want to go in this summer wonderland.

Cool nights and pleasant days without rain to interfere are here for your delight. You'll say, "My, what a place of places for an ideal vacation!"

And the especial entertainment of the Festival Year celebration offers that something "rare" that makes now the time of times to come. Join the thousands who will be present for the colorful Shrine Convention in Los Angeles, June 1 to 6; see the vividly panoramic tournament of lights at Newport Beach on August 1; take in the gayety of the Old Spanish Days Fiesta at Santa Barbara, August 13 to 15; witness the impressively thrilling Diamond Jubilee celebration at San Francisco, September 5 to 12; the Spanish Fiesta at Glendale; the Southern California Fair at Riverside; the Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona; the Hollywood Bowl concerts throughout the summer.

These are only a few of dozens. From one end of the state to the other there are unusual sights and scenes provided for your entertainment this summer. The costumes of seventy-five years ago. The vividness of the old Spanish California. The vital spirit of the present.

So come this summer and enjoy it all. Low-rate round trip railroad fares on all lines on sale from May 15, good returning until October 31.

and his services became more and more in demand.
As the years went by Mr. Wilson retained his old customers and kept adding new ones until the firm of William Wilson and company is now recognized as one of the leading painting and decorating firms in the entire southland.

Of late years this firm has been specializing in large buildings and has painted the interior and exterior of most of the big buildings built in this part of the country, and is known to have a very capable force of workmen who are experts extraordinary when it comes to doing high-class work.

Much of Mr. Wilson's success has also been due to the fact that he has kept abreast of the times in his line and began to work out suitable designs that would conform to and harmonize with the purpose of the building being built for.

Many of the beautiful designs seen in the large buildings in many cities in the southland have been the work of this firm. Mr. Wilson's office or planned in Mr. Wilson's office and the buildings of large buildings from the Mississippi to the Potomac know that this is one firm that can give each job that individual color or design that will show the building to the best advantage.

The firm of William Wilson and company is composed of William Wilson and his two sons, William Wilson, Jr., and M. P. Wilson, and they have large offices in the Bona Allen building, and an efficient staff of superintendents and foremen in various parts of the south seeing that the work is coming up to the specifications of the owner, and the reputation of the firm for fair and square dealing is being maintained.

A partial list of the large buildings painted and decorated in the past year or two would include the Wynne-Claughton, Henry Grady, Biltmore hotel, Hurt building, Peachtree Arcade, Citizens & Southern bank, John D. Archibald Memorial hotel, Thomasville, Ga.; Edwards hotel, Jackson, Miss.; Henley building, Ramsey hotel, Auburn, Ala.; Bon Air hotel, Augusta, Ga.; Wesley Memorial hospital, The Mayview, Blowing Rock, N. C.; University of Alabama, at Tuscaloosa, Ala., and more than a score of others.

This firm has also just completed a big roofing job for Harper & Straus at the corner of Mitchell and Mangum streets, and a store building for R. J. Hilley, the contractor, on Hampton street, and another large apartment for King Bailey at 502 Ponce de Leon avenue.

As this firm is pleasing all their customers in and out of town and have been doing so for years, it should be very surprising to all of those requiring roof work of any or all kinds to give them a ring at West 2712 and their roof troubles will be over.

No matter how large or small a roof job it may be or whether it be an old or new building. Mr. Acree himself gives each job just as much supervision that it requires and being an experienced roof man of more than 22 years, he is well qualified in every way to guarantee every job undertaken.

vote of confidence. In every case he has firmly said that he would not be "white-washed" but that he would pay a reward of $500 for evidence to convict himself of any shoddy work that has been done in his line.

Third, your committee, ask that the church approve this matter and that it be made a part of the record of the church and also that Atlanta newspapers be requested to publish it in their columns.

The Hapeville Baptist church, at a called conference Sunday morning, passed resolutions of confidence in Rev. B. J. W. Graham, its pastor, who has filed suit for $25,000 against O. C. Kidd, vice president of the Hapeville bank, on the charge of slander.

Mr. Graham in his suit stated that Mr. Kidd had told an acquaintance that the plaintiff was not bearing himself as a minister should, that the church would be injured if he continued in charge, and that he had "been in trouble with women," both while he was a pastor and while he was connected with the Hapeville bank. All these charges the minister emphatically denied.

Resolutions passed by the church following:
First, Our pastor, Dr. B. J. W. Graham, in his two years service, has done a most remarkable work in leading us in the erection of our most excellent house of worship, which has a debt of $5,000, due October 3, 1925. Under his leadership our church has been greatly strengthened in numbers, in its organization, in its finances and in its spirituality. Our Sunday school and our congregations are more than twice as large as they have ever been in the whole history of our church and its financial obligations—both for current expenses and missions—are being met by the successful operation of our financial system inaugurated by our pastor. Additions to our membership by letter and baptism are frequent.

Second, Your executive committee has made an exhaustive investigation of all the rumors involving the character and good name of our pastor, Dr. B. J. W. Graham, and we have been unable to find any ground whatsoever for even the slightest suspicion of any improper conduct upon his part toward any man or woman residing either in or out of our community.

We have in our possession affidavits from our fair daughters and good women as well as that of our boys and men. Also he has stood firm in his right against slander in the interest of the ministry in the state and to make it safe for the future pastors of this church. More than once Dr. Graham has refused offers of members of our church to propose to the church to give him a

To excel in any one line of endeavor is sure to bring recognition to those that excel, whether it comes soon or late and it does not make any particular difference what trade or profession a man may be engaged in.

Take the trade of plastering, this line of work has come down to us from the days of the early cave men who mixed ashes with mud and smoothed the mixture out with their bare hands.

Although this trade of plastering is nearly as old as the human race, it remained for an Atlanta man, P. I. Gomez, to achieve more than the ordinary results in quality and work done in a given time.

Mr. Gomez, who is an extra large man, early in life attained a splendid reputation among his fellow craftsmen as an expert and fast worker and his enormous amount of work done in these days was considered as very remarkable among his fellow plasterers.

Mr. Gomez's fast and good work kept him very busy and a few years ago he was enabled to start in business for himself and from that time his firm is one of the busiest in their line in the southeast.

As the years began to roll by Mr. Gomez began to work more with his head than his hands and by acquiring every latest improvement in tools and other equipment his firm still leads in the plastering line and there is no job, no matter how large it may be, that they are not prepared to handle it and get it under way before their competitors are getting ready to begin.

This firm has a large mixing machine that insures an even mixture of all plaster used and insures a better and more even job than can be done by the old hit and miss hand method.

Mortar prepared by this machine covers more area and is easier to handle and enables this firm to guarantee all work, as the same uniformity prevails throughout the entire job.

Due to their improved methods and splendid equipment they are enabled to get most all the large contracts in Atlanta and other southern cities and several crews are busy all the time.

Mr. Gomez has surrounded himself with a very efficient organization and has commodious offices in the Bona Allen building where Floyd Jennings, office manager; Raymond Nelson, bookkeeper and paymaster; T. G. Tucker, field superintendent; J. G. Merryweather and W. W. Doherty, Jr., superintendents, and many others may be found.

FLAT SHOALS AVE. FIRM RENDERING GOOD SERVICE

There is more manufacturing plants on the outer rim of Atlanta than the average Atlantan knows of and many of these are a great credit to Atlanta and vicinity.
Among the many is the W. B. Whitten company, located at 517 Flat Shoals avenue, who are headquarters for the celebrated Homer furnace and also sheet metal experts.
This firm through fair dealing and good work is growing rapidly and has had to enlarge its quarters twice in the past three years.
This firm does a big business with the Homer furnace and many of their pleased customers are telling their friends of the many advantages of this furnace, and from the present indications they will do a bigger business this year than they have in the past three years.
Mr. Whitten himself looks after the sheet metal and slate roof department and has a large force of experienced mechanics who have been with them a long time and are rated among the best in their line of work.
The repair work in the metal and slate roofing is a big thing in Atlanta and this firm has one crew out on repair work all the time and some men doing shop work.
R. C. Stephens looks after the sales and installations of the furnace line and is an expert of many years experience and is a good man to talk over your heating troubles with. If your old furnace is not giving good service or you are contemplating putting in a new one get in touch with Mr. C. Stephens by giving him a phone call at MAin 1871 and he will save you money and render prompt service.

RENDERING GOOD SERVICE INCREASES AGENCY'S BUSINESS
The popular insurance firm of McIntyre, Scott, Knight & company, 300-10 Atlanta Trust building, are making rapid strides in all lines of their business and all members of the firm agree that this is going to be their banner year.
Mr. Knight, in discussing the steady increase in their business, stated that the broadening scope of the insurance business in its many departments enables one department to be as big and important today as a whole agency was some years ago.
Take the liability and casualty departments as an illustration. A firm like this does much business in these lines and the volume of business written in a year reaches a large figure.
The great growth of this department in a large measure to the promptness in which all claims are paid, and their many well-versed and satisfied clients enables them to get much profitable and additional business.
The firm also does a considerable business writing rain insurance for all sorts of special sales and athletic events, and as this rain insurance is like it is taken out by most all live sales managers that are putting on some special sale, and having advertised the same very extensively, they do this to more than protect themselves for the money they had spent in advertising the sale.
This firm is composed of D. I. McIntyre, John J. Scott, J. O. Knight and J. O. King, and they have all taken a very keen interest in every good move that is for the betterment of Atlanta, and all realize that as Atlanta grows their business will grow also.

PROSPERITY PREDICTED FOR CATTLE INDUSTRY

Washington, May 3.—The beef cattle industry of the United States seems at last definitely moving toward prosperity. The department of agriculture announced today in a review of the situation, "The beef cattle industry is at a turning point. It is well-known," he asserted, "that the leading educators admit the failure of our general school system, just as our leading ministers admit the failure of the old type of church. Our very civilization is at stake, and unless something is done, we will either end in a war, or a gradual decline in pleasure seeking or immorality. Our only hope, as I see it, is in a new system of education of the sort that Antioch is developing."

WHEELER PROSECUTION BRANDED AS DISGRACE

Washington, May 3.—"The behavior of the department of justice toward Senator Wheeler is a disgrace to any free people," according to a statement from the Wheeler defense committee which is raising funds so that the Montana senator can adequately defend himself in his second trial to be held in Washington soon. The committee says the department of justice has spent $100,000 in prosecuting Wheeler.

"Testimony before the Borah committee which completely exonerated Senator Wheeler, showed that Attorney General Clegg set out to 'get' Wheeler," the committee said. "Daugherty's plans of revenge have been carried forward under his successors. Credit conditions are improved in the range country, operating expenses on ranches have been scaled down, and there is increased efficiency in handling beef."

Prices of beef cattle, the department points out, have advanced in spite of increased slaughtering, reflecting an increased demand. Reduced log marketing also has resulted in a large measure to the promptness in which all claims are paid, and their many well-versed and satisfied clients enables them to get much profitable and additional business.

The firm also does a considerable business writing rain insurance for all sorts of special sales and athletic events, and as this rain insurance is like it is taken out by most all live sales managers that are putting on some special sale, and having advertised the same very extensively, they do this to more than protect themselves for the money they had spent in advertising the sale.

The Woodruff Machinery company, one of the south's largest dealers in heavy portable machinery and saw mills, are having an exceptionally busy season and extend a cordial invitation to all old friends and new customers to come and see them at 92-94 South Forsyth street.

This firm was organized about 21 years ago and has a wide circle of friends all over the south.
Their celebrated "Eradicator" line of saw mills, slab burning boilers and engines may be seen wherever there is timber to be cut.
This firm does a large business with the famous Appleton saws that are made in Batavia, Ill., on the Fox river. These saws are made for every conceivable use, a saw can be made for and when anyone of the several thousand customers of the Woodruff company want anything in the saw line they can get it in a hurry by calling this big supply house.

Albert Woodruff, the president of this company, after making a thorough survey of the matter, put in a large line of saw mills last fall and the large volume of business his firm has done in this line has more than justified his judgment in the matter and now this company is headquarters for some of the best farm wagons on the market.

Work of Church Is Declared Second to That of Colleges

New York, May 3.—The Rev. Charles Francis Potter, announcing his resignation, effective in the autumn, as pastor of the West Side Unitarian church, in order to become executive secretary of Antioch college at Yellow Springs, Ohio, said today that the work of the church had become secondary to that of the college in modern civilization.

"I believe that when education becomes perfected," he wrote in a letter announcing his plans, "the churches will be unnecessary, but this is a long way off. The work of the churches has become secondary for a while, at least, until we have established an education which really prepares for life."

Dr. Potter said that Antioch college, a co-educational institution founded in 1853 and last year having 375 students and 38 instructors, represented a "revolutionary method of education," which he planned to bring to the attention of the entire country as its field representative.

"It is well-known," he asserted, "that the leading educators admit the failure of our general school system, just as our leading ministers admit the failure of the old type of church. Our very civilization is at stake, and unless something is done, we will either end in a war, or a gradual decline in pleasure seeking or immorality. BIG CONCERT OPENS ATLANTA MUSIC WEEK

An elaborate musical program, consisting of an organ recital and songs by the St. Luke's Episcopal church and the Cathedral chorus and by the St. Philip's junior choir Sunday afternoon featured the opening observance of national music week in Atlanta at the city auditorium. The week will be observed with special musical programs in hotels, clubs, churches and other public organizations of the city, scheduled every day.

The program was directed by Charles A. Sheldon, city organist, and was given under supervision of Mrs. Nellie Edwards, chairman for music week of the woman's division of the Atlanta chamber of commerce.

Approximately 2,500 Atlantans attended the exercises and enjoyed the various numbers presented by members of the Georgia chapter of the American Guild of Organists.

Miss Dora Duck, organist and choir-master of St. Luke's Episcopal church, directed the choir in "The Day of Judgment" and "The Cherubim Song," which were well received by the appreciative audience. The Cathedral choir, directed by Miss Grace Chalmers, organist and choir-master, sang "Daughters of Jerusalem," which proved to be one of the features of the entire entertainment. Miss Eda Bartholomew at the organ accompanied the chorus in "Hallelujah" (The Messiah). This number, sung by combined choir, was well received.

The program was well balanced and was a fitting beginning to the national music week in Atlanta. Members of the Georgia chapter of the guild who aided in arrangement of the program were: Miss Dora Duck, Mrs. Edwin Bayer, Mrs. Victor Clark, C. W. Duckmann, Miss Grace Chalmers Thompson, Miss Elizabeth Abbott, Mrs. Bonita Crowe, Miss Eberhardt, Miss Edna Hancock, Miss Clara Mae Smith, Mrs. T. H. Jones, Miss Virginia Surles, Miss Frances Coleman, George Hambrick, Miss C. MacGregor, Mrs. W. L. Hilton, Joseph Wagon, Dr. Charles A. Sheldon, Mrs. D. L. Wood, Miss Clara Harden and W. S. Bailey.

Mrs. Edwards requested at the recital that each family of the city join at 6:45 o'clock in a 15 minutes' sing, beginning with "My Country 'Tis of Thee" and including other songs. No jazz numbers were to be included in the songs in the homes, she said.

Special musical programs were conducted in a number of the Atlanta churches at the night service.

AMUSEMENTS "The Nervous Wreck."

(At the Lyric.)
Owen Davis' great comedy success—"The Nervous Wreck"—will open at the Lyric theater tonight, with Helen Joy and Fred Raymond in characterizations that are said to be among the funniest ever seen on a local stage. The play is a tensely dramatic affair, that, however, never for an instant, steps out of the bounds of comedy. It concerns a man who went to the west to recuperate and who found himself the center of a veritable whirlpool of emotions and situations.

De Carlos-Grandia.
(At Loew's Grand.)
One of the greatest dancing novelties in vaudeville headed by Juan de Carlos and Ella Grandia will be the chief attraction on the new bill at Loew's Grand theater this week. Mr. de Carlos and Miss Grandia are recognized as standard delineators of artistic dancing and they bring a pretentious offering to Atlanta which includes the famous Argentine dance orchestra.

Arthur Thornton and Sam Carlton will appear in their latest fun vehicle, "Not Now," in which they bring a lively line of breezy patter direct from Broadway. James Kennedy and company will present a funny playlet entitled "The Squire," while Billy Goelet and Vera Hall will offer a singing and dancing turn of unusual merit. Charles Russell and Walter Harro appear in "Let's Sing," a hodge-podge of variety.

"The Lost Lady" is the Loew feature for the week.

Keith's Vaudeville.
(Keith's Forsyth.)
There's something fascinating in the way animals comprehend a situation and show actual human intelligence, particularly in the manner they assume their roles in the pantomime performance being offered by Clemens Belling as the headlining feature at Keith's Forsyth in the first part of this week.

In addition Billy Elliott, burnt-cork delineator, has a group of songs and stories that are entirely new and satisfying. Margaret and Morrell present "The Tourists," a story with comedy, song and dance. Sena and Weber put a lot of odds and ends of vaudeville together, to make their act entitled "This and That," and Johnson and Baker, "The Two Mad Hatters," do some extremely entertaining hat juggling.

"Do You Dive."
(Tryout at Keith's.)
Every Atlanta girl, except professionals, is invited to enter the contest to be conducted by the Forsyth theater the latter part of this week to determine the winner of the Atlanta diving title. A handsome silver loving cup will be presented the winner at the Saturday night performance.

The contest is being staged in connection with the performance of Miss Lottie Mayer and her mermaids who headline the bill the latter part of the week.

"Birth of a Nation."
D. W. Griffith's amazing spectacle, "The Birth of a Nation," opens a three-day engagement at the Palace theater Monday. This picture combines spectacular, romance, domestic drama, comedy and tragedy into a two-hour and forty-five-minute production that epitomizes the life of a nation. Among the distinguished actors in the cast are Henry B. Walthall, Lillian Gish, Mae Marsh, Miss Cooper, Mary Alden, Ralph Lewis, Walter Long and Howard Gaye. Eighteen thousand people, 5,000 horses and not less than 5,000 scenes went into the making of the big spectacle.

Pola Negri.
(At the Howard.)
Tender and tempestuous Pola Negri opens at the Howard to day in "The Chatter," her first American comedy. This is the same type of picture in which she won her way to stardom. In this picture Pola takes part of a beautiful Spanish dancing girl, who wins fame and fortune on Broadway. Throughout the entire picture there is not a tear or a sigh—it is just a gay, dazzling entertainment that you are sure to enjoy.

Mr. Keese, conductor of the Howard symphony orchestra offers the life of Chopin as a special musical offering. Solon Drunkenmiller appears on the stage in a number of popular ballads. He is accompanied by the Duo-Art piano.

"Dante's Inferno," one of the mightiest dramatic spectacles ever screened, opens at the Rialto theater this morning at 11 o'clock as the feature of the week's picture program. It is taken

STAMPS AND SALAMAS

By Louise Dooly

A helping hand to college boys with more ambition than cash was the theme of a recent salama, which, if you are a constant reader, must be still fresh in your mind. (Parenthetically, it is a bad thing to miss one of the columns that come under the above caption. There is always the danger of losing our thread of thought. We have a hard enough time holding it to itself.)

Well, that very day, we met down town a leading Georgia educator whose school may or may not have been one of those who were referred to whose students have been the beneficiaries of loans from certain philanthropists. These philanthropists, our former story told, instead of sending boys to college, prefer to help those who have working their own way as far as they can, get in a tight place, financially, in mid-stream.

"Not an hour after I read what you wrote on the subject," this educator said, "a generous woman of wealth called me over the phone, and stated that she had decided to give $200,000 to our school, this money to help out students whose means might fail, and who, in our opinion, were worthy of this boost in order to go on to their degree."

"I do not know whether your story had anything to do with this gift, but, as I told you, the lady's message followed immediately upon the appearance of your article."

"We are going to pretend to ourselves that it did," was our answer, and Georgia club women, who heard the conversation, and is a fan on the subject for Georgia club women's school for mountain children at Tallulah, said:

"Go in it, and pretend some for Tallulah."

That's the way women keep you reminded of their pet interests.

They are the finest propagandists in the world. And we didn't discover this fact first or by itself.

WHICH reflection suggests that some of the most vital and pressing themes we have staring at us on our desk for treatment in this department are suggested by the things women are doing and trying to do in the matter of education for those young people immediately around them with whom an education is not to be had just for the asking.

Dividing our interest as we cannot help doing between Georgia, of which we have long known the efforts of the women, and North Carolina, where we are beginning to find out, we have a double reason to realize what his achievements are coming out of very little material resource.

Money for projects in which it is women who are mainly interested does not grow on trees. And yet we are half inclined to wonder sometimes—"Well maybe it does," since the women who want education for children who are underprivileged seem to get it somehow from somewhere.

ARRIVING from Asheville in Atlanta, we found a telephone call awaiting us from the Southern Educational alliance which, as a good deal of publicity has let this part of the country know, purposed to benefit the girl with ambition for education and no means of her own to get it, to connect up the girl with the opportunity.

For there is a surprising number of people who want to give in such cases and have the means to.

This telephone call sought to get a line on a good teacher or writer in Asheville to pass on the singing voice of a girl in the mountains not far from Asheville, for whom the alliance could probably provide a scholarship if the talent and the seriousness of the applicant should warrant it.

JUST before we left North Carolina, we happened upon one of the old folk of the story of Crossmore in the valley of the Linville river, which reads like a romance, and is one.

A once neglected little mountain school there has developed into an institution and a community, with the youth of the section preparing themselves for high school (a part of the institution) and then for college, and then coming back to infuse into the home community the added fruits of what they have learned abroad.

And all of this has grown out of the sale of used clothing and the intelligence of one interested couple, who went in among these people, not to do things for them, but to help them do things for themselves.

The very way the whole project has been financed is a symptom.

People outside were solicited for their old clothes to sell. The buyers were the mountain people themselves, and the proceeds went to the support of the school in which their children were being prepared for a fuller and more pronounced life than they themselves could possibly have afforded, with their bareness of opportunity.

GREEN CHARCOAL INVENTED IN VIENNA

Vienna, May 3.—A green charcoal named "Lizinit" has been invented by the Polensky of the Vienna Technical High school. It is estimated that the chemical qualities of the new substance will facilitate the employment of crude iron in many metallic industries.

"Lizinit" is prepared from ordinary wood and other cheap materials.

It seemed as if the entire club room was engulfed in a deep and almost reverent silence. Her voice was just above a whisper, but the magnanimity of her character gave it power, and likewise has made her the club president. Somehow the conversation had drifted to dry cleaning, and no one could offer a panacea. Finally she spoke—

"I find but two sure ways to satisfaction. The one to buy new; the other which is far more economical, to use the Stoddard Cleansing Service."

ODD FELLOWS HOLD BARBECUE AT TATE

Tate, Ga., May 3.—(Special.)—The Odd Fellows, in a county-wide anniversary celebration, held a large picnic and barbecue in Tate Saturday.

The judges most interested in this celebration were Tate, Nelson, Marble Hill and Talking Rock.

The usual anniversary program was carried out, after which addresses were made by Paul L. Lindsey, grand master of Georgia, Rev. G. F. Compton and Professor Comer C. Baker.

Old Fellowship is making great gains in this section, more than 30 members having been taken into the order recently.

VALDOSTA INDORSES COLUMBIA SEMINARY

Valdosta, Ga., May 3.—Official endorsement of the $250,000 campaign for further endowment and equipment of Columbia Theological seminary on its removal from Columbia, S. C., to Decatur has been given by the pastor and officers of the Valdosta Presbyterian church.

A $40,000 building site has been given in Decatur and the sum of $314,000 raised. Representatives from Atlanta, campaign headquarters will be in Valdosta from May 7 to 24.

Money!

You handle it every day, but what do you know about it? Do you know how we happen to have money today as a medium of circulation and exchange? Do you know some of the things the ancient peoples used for money, and why?

Can you tell where coins of the U. S. are minted? Could you describe how money gets into circulation? What is "legal tender"? Can you describe all the various coins of the U. S. now in circulation?

Do you know that there are several different kinds of paper money in the U. S.? Can you tell the difference between a Gold Certificate, a Treasury Note, a National Bank Note, a Federal Reserve Note, a Silver Certificate, a Federal Reserve Note and a Federal Reserve Bank Note? What are the designs on U. S. paper money?

Can mutilated currency be redeemed? Is it unlawful to punch holes in U. S. coins and wear them for jewelry?

If you can answer all these questions, then you WON'T be interested in our Washington Bureau's latest bulletin on UNITED STATES MONEY. If you want these questions and a lot of other interesting ones answered for you, then you will want a copy of the bulletin. Fill out the coupon below and mail as directed:

BEAUTY CHATS BY EDNA K. FORBES.

ROUNDED SHOULDERS.

No matter how slim a figure fashion demands, square, bony shoulders will never be considered attractive. We've done away with such things as bust and hips, we've quite eliminated dimples—to my great joy, since I no longer am called upon to give impossible directions for putting dimples into undimpled chins—but we don't yet believe in hollows around the shoulder bones nor an outstanding spinal column between the shoulder blades.

For the very slim girl, who can slide into a tubular dress made out of a yard of cloth and look smart, while her chubby sisters diet and pant with envy, has her own problem when she puts on an evening dress. For all her thinness, her shoulders must be gently rounded, her back flat, her upper arms well developed. And those soft, smooth lines she can acquire by daily, careful exercise and massage.

Massage with cocoa butter to feed the skin. If you have trouble with the stiff butter, melt it and mix with the same amount of cold cream; this will give you a cream easier to work into the skin though not quite so fattening. Scrub the shoulders and chest first with hot water and soap and rinse with hot water, so the pores of the skin are open and ready to take up the butter. Pin a soft cloth over the skin to protect your underclothing, for some cream is sure to work out after a massage.

Deep breathing exercises will train the shoulders to lie flat and not to curve forward, while the bones protruding in back, also they will develop the chest and fill up those ugly hollows below the neck. Extend the arms in front of you and pull them back, fists clenched, to the shoulders, as you breathe in. This helps wonderfully.

In a month you'll see a great improvement. In two months you should have passably pretty chest and shoulders no matter how thin you are otherwise.

Costella: You cannot coarsen your hair, but you can keep it from sinking to your head if you massage the scalp every day until you feel the

Lovely Recent Bride

Mrs. Carl J. Howe, whose wedding was a brilliant affair at Tallapoosa last Saturday.

Tallapoosa, Ga., May 3.—(Special.)—Of wide and cordial interest in Georgia and Alabama was the wedding here last Saturday at noon of Carl J. Howe and Miss Edna Norton, the young people leaving by automobile for an extended wedding tour before taking up their home in Birmingham.

As the inspiring strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, under the skillful touch of Miss Josephine Pittman, heralded the approach of the bridal party, Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, of Atlanta, the matron of honor and cousin of the bride, entered the spacious parlor. She was attractively attired in a spring model of rosewood georgette with hat to match. She was followed by the bride, who wore a blonde ensemble suit with hat to match. She was given in marriage by her mother, Mrs. Maude McBride Norton, who wore a silver grey crepe with lace trimmings.

The nuptial music, "To a Wild Rose," was played softly while the Rev. A. B. Sanders performed the impressive ceremony. The room was attended by his brother, Mr. Clifford Howe.

Immediately after the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's grandfather, Colonel J. M. McBride, where Mrs. Geneva Pittman kept the bride's book.

Lake Hurst, N. J., May 3.—The dirigible Los Angeles, which recently completed successfully a trial trip to Bermuda, left here today to undertake the more severe test of a flight to Porto Rico.

Weather conditions were ideal as the ship took off from its mooring mast at 11 o'clock. Quickly rising to an altitude of 2,500 feet, the dirigible headed seaward to the southeast and was lost to view.

Under the command of Captain George W. Steele, the Los Angeles carried three men—two off Mrs. from its mooring ship, the Potomac, and a news photographer in addition to a crew of 33.

COURT DECIDES DOG MAY HELP ON ALIMONY

Los Angeles, May 2.—If Art Acord's wife persists in denying him the companionship and aid of their family dog, he need not pay her alimony, it was ruled yesterday in superior court, where Mrs. Acord is seeking temporary alimony pending the outcome of her suit for divorce from the screen actor.

The court decided that since the household pet is community property, Acord has a right to utilize its screening ability by sending it to the studio and putting it to work, earning part of the alimony.

Others who assisted in the reception were Mrs. W. H. Malone, Mrs. Bell Teubner Johnson and Mrs. W. D. Lloyd.
